

IAS lectures schedule

21 October 2021, 6pm CET

Ellen Bialystok:

How bilingualism changes minds

18 November 2021, 5pm CET

Judith Kroll:

Two sides of bilingualism: A lens to the cognitive neuroscience of language and a reflection of our social world

9 December 2021, 5pm CET

Jean-Marc Dewaele:

Emotional resonance and embodiment of multilinguals' languages

20 January 2022, 5pm CET

Antonella Sorace:

Reassessing gradient variation in models of grammar and bilingualism

3 March 2022, 5pm CET

Marit Westergaard:

Multilingualism and crosslinguistic influence as coactivation

31 March 2022, 5pm CET

Li Wei:

Translanguaging language and education

28 April 2022, 5pm CET

Theo Marinis:

Multilingual child language acquisition: Comparing the development of the heritage and the majority language

12 May 2022, 5pm CET

Simone Pfenninger:

Becoming bilingual later in life: Thoughts on affective and cognitive between- and within-person variability