

SATURDAY 5 APRIL	AULA C	AULA A	A-133	A0-12	A1-24,25 (COMPUTER ROOM)
09.00-10.00	GREGORY KRÓLICZAK The organization of gesture and language, and their relationships to hand dominance. Evidence from functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI) (AULA A) Chair: Hanna Wysocka
10.00-10.30	COFFEE BREAK
	PHON & PHON Chair: Marta Marecka	EFL Chair: Aleksandra Jankowska	PRAGMATICS Chair: Konrad Juszczyk	DISCOURSE Chair: Piotr Jagodziński	WORKSHOP
10.30-11.00	Grzegorz Aperliński: The role of fundamental frequency in the perception of voicing in Polish and English	Joanna Falkowska: TEFL to Deaf students – is segregation all that bad?	May Olaug Horverak: Systemic Functional Linguistics – pragmatic structuralism providing a useful framework for writing instruction	Bartłomiej Kruk: Interactional construction of disrupted family relationships in the Alzheimer's online support group	PAUL BAKER Using corpora to analyse discourse
11.00-11.30	Marta Romieniecka: Reduction processes in Presidential Oaths. A study within the framework of Natural Phonology	Halina Lewandowska: Does being a musician make you a better speaker of a foreign language?	Elena Albu: A Metarepresentational approach to negation	Daria Domagała: Introspective and retrospective data in the analysis of spoken ELF discourse
11.30-12.00	Albert Ventayol Boada: L2 phonemes perception of L1 allophones: Psycho-phonetic perception of mid-vowels and liquid Catalan phonemes by Polish native speakers	František Tůma: Different conceptualizations of "language" in measuring EFL learners' accuracy development: Reflection on research findings	Natalia Pałka: The analysis of impoliteness from the perspective of humour in Woody Allen's comedy "Small Time Crooks"	Marta Mysakowska: Target's corporate identity and its reflection in employee's anonymous reviews of the company
12.00-12.30	Bogna Brzezicha, Małgorzata Kul: Effects of rate, phonetic background and gender on vowel reduction in the speech of non-native speakers of English	Karolina Mieszkowska: Do bilingual pre-schoolers describe mental states in two languages?	Magdalena Zawrotna: The use of politeness strategies in online conversations about taboo topics among young Egyptians	Małgorzata Wielgosz: Evidentiality and epistemic modality: A comparative analysis of Catholic sermons in Spanish and Portuguese
12.30-12.45	BREAK
12.45-13.45	HEIKO MOTSCHENBACHER Normativity as a key concept in language and sexuality studies (AULA A) Chair: Agnieszka Kiełkiewicz-Janowiak
13.45-14.45	LUNCH BREAK
	PSYCHOLINGUISTICS Chair: Ewa Tomczak	EFL Chair: Danuta Wolfram-Romanowska	PRAGMATICS Chair: Dorota Jaworska	Language & Society Chair: Maciej Kielar
14.45-15.15	Katarzyna Jankowiak, Kaja Adamek, Krzysztof Sęk, Karolina Rataj: ERPs of novel and conventional metaphoric verb-noun word dyads in Polish and English – research proposal	Jogile Teresa Ramonaite: Being a foreigner in a "small and difficult" language country, is it easier or more difficult?	Natalia Banasik, Monika Riegeł, Maria Zajczkowska : So young, so ironic! Irony comprehension in preschool children	Jakub Birycki: Putin's chest and Ukrainian policy: Conceptual blends in discourse after Ukrainian drift away from the EU
15.15-15.45	Dawid Czech: Embodiment of metaphorical language in light of current psycholinguistic and neurolinguistic research	Yasmin El-Hariri: Authentic language learning through cross-cultural peer interaction. On the benefits of introducing blended tandems into formal learning contexts	Ewelina Prażmo: What is so GR8 about 1337 – or the cognitive view of the internet slang and Leetspeak	Robbie Love: Representations of Muslim people in the British national press after the 2013 Woolwich murder: A corpus-assisted critical discourse analysis
15.45-16.15	Rafał Jończyk: Brain response to emotional language in Polish-English bilinguals: Evidence from ERPs	Takumi Aoyama: Motivation, L2 selves and inter-cultural contact between different languages and cultures in Finland	Yang Zhang: Politeness in all-female friendly talk: A case study of agreeing and disagreeing in Chinese female university students	Magdalena Witamborska: The linguistic view of FREEDOM in contemporary German right- and leftwing press texts
16.15-16.45	Marta Marecka, Donata Janiszewska: A loop for language? The relationship between phonological loop, phonological sensitivity and foreign vocabulary range in Polish learners of English	Dorota Czarska-Andrzejewska: Peer Feedback – an effective means of becoming an autonomous English speaking student	Halszka Baj, Jeanette Altarriba: Poznań Induced Emotion Database – a new database of emotional stimuli for emotion-language interface research	David Paul Gerards: Parents and their use of Galician and Spanish with their children: An analysis of recent data and an attempt of explanation via an integrative model
16.45-17.15	COFFEE BREAK
17.15-18.15	JOHANNA KISSLER Emotion and word processing - from lexical to social significance (AULA A) Chair: Katarzyna Bromberek-Dyzman
18.15-18.30	BREAK
	PSYCHOLINGUISTICS Chair: Anna Klecha	EFL Chair: Jacek Rysiewicz	Formal linguistics Chair: Anna Antkowiak	Language & Society Chair: Joanna Pawelczyk
18.30-19.00	Jacek Kowalczyk: Language switching in picture naming: Evaluating the L1-repeat-benefit hypothesis of asymmetric switch costs	Jakub Przybył, Joanna Urbańska: The relationships between language learners' personality traits and their learning strategies	Pavlna Jínová, Boris Lehečka, Karel Oliva: Preparing the base for Old Czech tagging	Magdalena Nowak: Of dislocations and double-standards: Discourses of heritage and rights in a Scottish Parliament debate
19.00-19.30	Bartosz Brzoza, Agnieszka Lijewska: Cognate facilitation effect in Polish-English bilingual speakers: The role of cumulative frequency	Tatiana Perevozchikova: Grammatical gender in advanced L2 learners: Meaning- and form-related transfer from L1	Joanna Tokaj: Converbs in Early Rajasthan – diachrony and typology	Joanna Kozakiewicz: Is popular neutral? The overwhelming success of the terms 'Gypsy question' and the 'Gypsy criminality' in the Hungarian press discourse
19.30-20.00	Joanna Sycz, Aleksandra Wachla-Gieratowicz: Evaluation of Polish-English automated translation of technical texts – Can it assist professional translators? A Pilot study	Magdalena Łuniewska, Katarzyna Chyl, Ewa Haman: Polish version of the Cross-linguistic Lexical Tasks (CLTs): Method of construction and first results	Ida Stria: Artificial vs. natural – The case of Esperanto	Charles Brasart: Group-specific, language-specific or unconstrained: Recurring and isolated code-switching phenomena in two corpora of bilingual conversation
20.00-21.30	RECEPTION // POSTER SESSION

POSTER SESSION
Kamila Ciężar, Katarzyna Jankowiak, Ryszard Naskręcki, Karolina Rataj: Neurophysiological correlates of sentence meaning processing. An ERPs study
Olga Marta Janik: Factors affecting the acquisition of adjective inflection in L2 Norwegian
Dorota Jaworska: The kid doesn't like it: Irony comprehension and perception in children and young adults
Małgorzata Krysiak: Preliminary evaluation of the database of speech recorded under the influence of alcohol
Ewa Tomczak: Comprehension of motion-encoding sentences in one's L1 and L2 from an embodied cognition view
Natalia Wiśniewska: The stereotype of Russia among Polish students
Magdalena Zabielska, Magda Żelazowska, Piotr H. Skarżyński: From dyspnea to shortness of breath – the translation process from the patient's into the doctor's story in interactive case reports	